

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information providing apparatus for providing an information receiver with an information providing service is provided, including: information accumulating means for accumulating information to be provided; electronic mail receiving means for receiving an electronic mail; and information providing control means for extracting desired information from the information accumulating means to start the information providing service for the information receiver having transmitted the electronic mail upon receipt of the electronic mail by the electronic mail receiving means.